[FIRST SIXTEEN YEARS] The history of theaters in Sacramento THE OLD METROPOLITAN THEATER. It is dismantled by its present proprietor,

Backache, Soreness of the Chest,

A mystical line separates them from the rest of the world, and all mankind look upon the stage with a degree of interest that is difficult of definition. Neither time nor space suffice to enter into this subject as it deserves, but present effort must be directed to presentation of some facts concerning the theaters of Sacramento, and especially the Metropolitan, which is the only remaining representative of all the "stages" upon which players have strutted their brief hour in this city.

THE FIRST THEATER

Proper opened upon the Pacific coast was the Eagle Theater of Sacramento, October 18, 1849, on Front street, under the proprietorship of Thomas Maguire, Lewis Baker, manager, and Emma and Ada Webb, called the Southern Fairy Sisters, in the drama, "Wandering Boys." The largest audience then assembled ever seen in the city to that date. The house was pronounced the finest theater in the State.

During 1859 Thomas Maguire was lessee, and played Avonia Jones, the Mandeville pasters in the State.

The next theater proper (passing some small establishments that ranked only as melodeons and concert halls) was the National, now known as the Metropolitan. It is located on K street, between Fourth and Fifth, and was built in the spring of 1856 by Lee & Marshall as amphitheater for their circus, which they had maintained for four years previously. Daly, who made his first appearance at that time, subsequently became very prominent in the profession. The flood of January, 1850, closed the theater and the company departed. The last owner of the "Eagle" was Judge Hasting, who bought it in at Sheriff's sale for $4,500. Early in 1850 Mr. Atwater returned and supervised the building of the Tehama Theater, on Second street, between I and J. Mrs. Wingard, better known as Mrs. J. Hudson Kirby, was its first manager. She closed it July 13, 1850, but with James Stark, a popular actor, reopened it March 19, 1851, and in a few months the two married. August 13, 1851, the Tehama was burned by incendiarism. By the Sutter Rifles was held in the theater, to which Governor Weller gave his countenance and aid. Lewis Baker, early in 1860, took the Forrest Theater, with Hackett, Sophie Edwin and others, and forced Maguire to the wall for a time, but he soon rallied, with Anderson the wizard, and the Euglish Opera troupe. Baker then moved to the Sacramento Theater, and played the "Corsican Brothers," with old Dave Anderson, Wm. Barry, the Mandevilles, Mrs. Thoman, Mrs. Baker, Georgè Ryer and others, and Maguire replied, with Mrs. W. C. Forbes and J. H. In the history of the house, passing the engagements in Sacramento of such notables as James Stark and wife, J. W. Wallack and wife, the Gougenheim Sisters, Mr. and Mrs. Baker, W. M. Fleming, John Drew, Birch, Wells, Coes & Backus, Rattler, Hussey & Zorer, and others, and the management at various houses such as John Wilson and Mrs. Wood. March 14, 1859, the National, having passed into the hands of T. & J. Hutchins, and having been remodeled and refitted, a banquet was served on the stage, and William Bausman christened the house

"THE METROPOLITAN."

The improvements consisted in the building of a new proscenium, retouching of a new proscenium, retouching of a new proscenium, retouching of the stage of the stage of the season, and it closed sadly. April 21st the minstrels tion of President Lincoln broke the season, and it closed sadly. April 21st the minstrels again. May 2d-4th, the Blaisdells; May 10th-24th, Sophie, Irene and Jennie Worrell and Charles Wheatleigh, in those days the special pets of California theater-goers. July 25th-29th, Maguire brought on the Italian Opera Troupe, with Sconcia soprano, Adelaide Phillips contratto, Morley tenor, Orlandini baritone, and Fossati basso. It proved a successful venture. August 21-12th, Dan Setchell, the witty, under Maguire. On the 7th, Warwick took his farewell benefit; 21st, Maguire put on the stage the California pride and special favorita Sophie Edwin (whose womanly virtues and social standing were no less exalted than her dramatic abilities), George Pauncefort, Thorne, Leman and Barry. September 19th-23d, he presented J. B. Studley, the Worrells and Sallie Hinckley. October 11th-15th, Miss Brambilla took the Metropolitan for her Italian Opera Troupe—Elvira Brambilla soprano, Cameroni contraito, Morley tenor, old and concert ran Brambil'a a lively opposition.
October 25th, the Sacramento Library had two evenings of "Tableaux" at the theater,

Ammonia is one of the best known products of the laboratory. If, as seems to be justly claimed for it, the application of its properties to the purposes of cooking results in giving us lighter and more wholesome bread, biscuit and cake, it will prove a boon to dyspeptic humanity, and will speedily force itself into general use in the new field to which science has assigned it.

Father-Tan Game Raided. San Francisco, June 22d,-John B. War there is a mound of earth probably five feet higher than the ground surrounding. On this Mr. Teale set an orange tree five years ago, and also set another one about thirty feet from the one on the mound. The tree on the elevation of ground has never been touched with the frost, and thrives remarkably well, having a number of oranges on it at present. The other tree is frequently frost-bitten, is smaller is the same person who several years ago ALBERT GALLATIN, street during a quarrel. always surely restores its color, when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and stablished; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a Bressing for Ladies' Hair The VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft luster and richness of tone it imparts. PREPARED BY
